About St. Stephen's:

Founded in 1978 as the primary mission of St. Stephen's Episcopal Cathedral in Harrisburg, PA, St. Stephen's Episcopal School provides a superior education in an Episcopal setting to students of all faiths and ethnic heritages, cultivating confident individuals who contribute positively to their families, school, and larger community. SSES has over 140 students, preschool through 8th grade, and is composed of 70% students of color, with over 60% of students receiving some level of tuition assistance. Students benefit from small class sizes, strong academics, and a sense of belonging in a loving community. The school values and celebrates ethnic, socioeconomic, racial, religious, and sexual/gender orientation diversity. Learn more at www.sseschool.org

Position Description:

We are seeking an enthusiastic, energetic, and creative educator to teach the joy and importance of Physical Education. Candidates must be willing and eager to work with a wide range of learners, all of whom are admitted to the school through a selective admissions process.

Who We're Looking for:

The connection and relationship between the teacher and student are the keystones of the classroom experience at St. Stephen's Episcopal School. Well equipped classrooms, thoughtfully planned courses of study, and effective guidance programs are very important ingredients, but the success of the school is dependent upon the enthusiasm and dedication of the teaching staff. Student-centered teachers are the school's greatest assets!

Qualifications/Requirements:

At least a Bachelor of Arts degree in education or applicable area of study with at least one (1) year of P.E. teaching experience.

Responsibilities:

- Follow a course of study developed by teachers in partnership with the administration.
- Develop lessons that account for the diverse student learning modalities within a classroom, utilizing an array of teaching and assessment tools and resources.
- Maintain a safe and engaging classroom environment
